

Based on data from the block, construct an interval estimate (with confidence level 95%) for the true average number of years ago that a first-year Stern MBA student graduated from college.

Based on data from the block, construct an interval estimate for the number of years ago that a randomly selected first-year Stern MBA student graduated from college.